INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Early in the spring of 1851 the United States troops stationed on this Northwest coast were I is not proposed in this issue of THE OREGO-NIAN to review the industrial or commercial in-terests of Oregon and Washington, only to note withdrawn and placed in more active service. East to aid in putting down the resultion. This lett our frontier in featern Oregon, Washington and Idaho territor; in a very citical and mapfot tected condition. The marauding times of Incident and Idaho territors in a very citical and mapfot tected condition. in a drief way new main points for the information of strangers to whom our affairs are unknown. In general terms we export produnknown in general terms we export products of one kind or another to the value of $20,000,000 annually. This does not include coal and lumber from Puget sound in Washington territory and Coos bay in Southern Oregon, which would run up the figures to $25,000,000 or $30,000,000. The main productive industry of he country is that of wheat growing. It is carried on in every section and settlement to some extent, but its great fields are the Willamette value in Western Oregon and the whole carried on in every section and settlement to some extent, but its great fields are the William-ette valley in Western Oregon and the whole of the great region of Eastern Oregon and Washington known as the Columbia river basin. The surplus for shipment varies with the seasons, but it is constantly growing. The receipts of wheat at Portland, the business and shipping depot of the country for the year 1885 were Wheat, 5,822,130 centals, and four, 344,221 barrels. The total value of this vast quantity, all of which was sent abroad, was about $5.00-000. The wheat producing area of the country is constantly increasing with the extension of rathroad systems, particularly in the Columbia river lasin, where hundreds of thousands of acres of grain land still lie unused owing to their remoteness from market and lack of tradsportation. Two branch lines have been butk its current year, oponing up some thous ands of acres to production, and other lines are soot to be built. It is confidently believed by the railroad managers that within five years the grain surplus of the "Inland Empire," as the Culumbia river basin is called, will be developed grain surplus of the "Inland Limpre," as the Clumbia river basin is called, will be developed and it at in future years it will be many times present than now.

The interest next in importance to grain is the holescok in he various branches. This has need base no general depot. Cattle horses and sheep are driven out in many directions and by a rooss route, so that it is a matter of impossibility to get accurate figures either as to number or value. It is known, however, in a general way that the stock husiness, apart from local consumption and its various branches of indes, wood, etc., jields to the state a direct in the most of about $3.00,000 per year.

Wood is an important item in our exports. It is ripact in Western and Southern Oregon and and in Lastorn Oregon and Washington. Our exports for last year were it 500,000 nonde, would $4,700,000. In addition to this there was a constitutable local consumption by three or four local fractories.

cypoths for last year were 11 500 000 pounds, world $1,100,000 In addition to this there was a constitutable local consumption by three or four local factories. The Columbia river, which marks the boundary between Oregon and Washington, is the greatest eakinon producing stream of the world, and there are forty establishments where this dilicious fish is preserved frash in sealed time. The annual upput is hearly $,000,000 dozen cine, yielding an income to the state close upon $3,000,000 Various other products—fruit, hops, polatoes etc.—yield the state $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 various other products—fruit, hops, polatoes etc.—yield the state $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 each year. Mining is carried on in Southern Oregon and in various places in the Columbia river basin, yielding an annual revenue of upward of $1,500,000. There are many rich gold fields, and this budiness is capyble of indefinite expansion. I umber and coal form an immense item in our exports, and yield about $5,000,000 a year. To these brief notes we may with propriety and a quotation from the last New Years Original (NAA). There are many signs that the period of depression that began throughout the North west shortly after rollroad connection with the Fast was established is now to be succeeded by a nerod of indicasing activity. The conditions in every way are manifestly improved and constantly becoming more hopeful. In business undertakings there is more confidence. People are working their way out of debt. There is increased production. The area of loud in cultivation is being extended very largely. More new homesticads are being established than at any time domining the past three years who is honey and the production of the history of the country. Many branches of manufacture are being attempted in a small way, and with good promise of success. Merchants are selfung more goods than at any time of the world in the state of things, which cannot but bring good results of the cuntry. We consider the prosper of of the world way and the prosper of of

There is nothing mysterious in such marriages turuing out fadly, and it ere should be no surprise that the friends in such a case should be full of sorrow at such a union The sorrow is not be-cause a poor man has married a rich girl, but because everybody knows that marriage for its hat pinesa depends on some coincidence of nat-ural tastes and acquired education quite as much as whether Jack has the means to pay Gill's blis or the reverse. In the second place, while it is no objection to any man that he fol-I was in humble but honest calling, it is an ob-je and that he should be a man of dishonorable nature. Any man, whether he is a commodore or a coachman, whether he is a commodore or a coachman, who would abuse his opportunity so far as to woo secretly a young girl and marry her without a plain arowal of his inlentions and an appeal to her parents for consent, commits a very dishonegable and unmoral net parents who here to not her these forces. Parents who have lavished their lives on their children have some rights that every gentleman r spec s, and the seductive coachinin is not a man of honor nor a gentleman, not because he drives horses for his bread but because he abuses his opportunity to stent a dangle or from

MORI CITARING — A large tract of land be-onging to W S Ladd, and lying between the anion road and the Barnes road has been anyon road and the Barnes road has been shashed. There is nearly a section in the tract, and A. H. Johnson has also had a considerable fract adjuning stashed. On the whole, there is yest amount of brush and when it gots on fire, us it will sooner or later, there is going to be some smoke in this withinty. It is to be hoped, that the fire may "come off" at a propiitious lime and no damage be done. The land when turned over will be sowed into timothy and will make splendid pasture. It will be a good hing when all the woods have disappeared from the vicibility of the city and we have green bills and pleatant fields to guze over.

CATTLE LOSSES—It is ead that cattle are dying in parts of Montana for want of water, the long continued drouth having dried up many small streams. A party who bought a large lot I calle from Ben Suipea, to take to Miles City, where he proposed to convert them futo canned i.ef. had the misfortune to have his canners burned. Several train leads of cattle arriving, one after the other, on the top of the disastor caused the boyer more loss, as the cattle had to be rhipped to Chicago, where they were sold for unch less than they cost. It is probable that follows may lose something by the transaction, as it is understood that the checks he reconved for his cattle had not been cashed before the fire CATTLE LOSSES -It is said that cattle are dy

ALFRED FRANK'S DEATH.

Over Connecence in his ability to Battle with the Breakers the Canao-Body Recovered-Functal this Afternoon

About 4 o clock yes erday morning the body of Alfred 5 Frank, who was drowned on North Perch Tuesday afternoon, was recovered. The ren ains were brought to this city on the Olympan and in the evening taken to the family serioes will be held at 4 o'clock this cityman afternoon. (Hunda afternoon, Mr D D Oliphadt, who was an intimate dent Found Mr Fank whose cottages are a do by side, h d decided to return to Portland Wedi esday, and neither wanted to miss the op-portunity of taking a last p unige into the ocean, particular; as their nath the day is fore had be in very exceptable. A stiff northwest crosses was blowing and the breakers, which were ordinarily high, came in very class together. This was about 4 o'clock, and the tide was short one shird fined. The water was chilly, very much colder than the city before Mr. O'hiphant wallad out until the water was mart; to his atturitts. Mr. Irrak, who is taller and a very expert swimmer, was about 5 feet in advance and shouled to his companion, "I me out. "Ill told your hand. The re's no onager." Mr. O lphant, who is an average swimmer, answered he had had particular; as their both the day before had to bis companion, "I me out. "Ill told your hand. There's no anger." Mr. O lph nit, who is an average swimmer, answered he had has enough of the water and was going out. The treaters mane in so has that it was with considerable exerten he reached a firm food of standing wats deep. When he had refreated estareward for enough to be only kneed deep, he intried or sund to look for Mr. Frank and was dernified at not being able to each in a law, little girls riding their poiles on the beach as a Mr. Frank sink out of sight while his companion was coming to ward shore. It could be a received in the firm of the man annute or two from the time Mr. Frank calle to Mr. Objehant until he was strucking by he for hard of ourse it was too late. There is a sand har rinning paralle with the leach, 400 or had feet from high tide mark, and there are breaked in this bar. These are plumbered at dead low water. There is a sand to the first sales as a forcurrent, running north, and it pours through these breaks in this bar. These are plumbered treated in the bar. These are plumbered treated for water fiveles also a some current, running north, and it pours through these breaks in this bar. There are plumbered to the bar, and in very close proximity to the homest through the very chowed total in Fank must have been outsided to bur, and in very close proximity to the humals through it. Notwithstanding he was astrong awhomer, the drowning can be explained by one of three theories. He may have censelized with a trainly or he may have been choked for a momen 19 ewallowing salt water, and then struck by a breaker before the was able to recover his breath; or he may have steaped into a depression known as a "trust bole," and the same instant struck by a breaker. The probability is that he was existed with cramps when the hody was found, the rines were disped closely about the chest, and the igs straight, the feet close typether.

The State Board of Oregon and its Methoda

General Statistics and Information-Lands, Products and Olimeto-Various Advantages and Attractions.

The Gregon state board of immigration was created by legislative enactment in January, 1885, and duly organized on the first day of April following. The following is the personnel of the board of commissioners as appointed by Gov. Moody Chas. H Podd, Portland, president, Wm. N Lados, Salem, vice-president Hon. H. W Corbett, Portland Hon H B Miller, Grant's Pass, and S Rothchild, Pendleton C B. Carlisle, Portland, is secretary, in charge of rooms

The help extended does not stop at the general informa-tion extended, but touches and serves the im migrant in all possible ways, as to tem orary location, seeking friends, shipment of goods etc. It is intended that he shall feel at home terest in him. There is no charge for any of

The introduction commissioners have an arrangement with the Oregon & California rai way by which they issue a reduced rate, stopover ticket, good for thirty days. Armed with this the immigrant can go out into the state and make a thorough examination at comparatively little expense. There are no conditions, no bing ittle expense. There are no conditions, no liting whatever, contingent on the Issuance of its sticket. Neither the state nor the company askethe new corner to purchase, but extends the licked as an indicement to Dok over Oregon. Some reduction on round trip tickets is granted by the Oregon. Railway & Navigation company. Additional, the secretary issues to each new comer a card, introducing him by name to the different agents of the county boards of immigration, whose duty it is to show lands and afford all assistance possible, and without charge.

At the rooms in this city the immigrant will find specimens of all the productions of the state a magniment grain gateway into the state. A free reading room, with all the state papers, is another feature. On the tables, and always open to examination, is a classified farm record, containing about 1200 farms and tracts of land, that are for eale by the owners, to whom the secretary sends any one who may make a selection. Another feature is the mail book, in which the visitor writes the name and address of mose to whom he wishes to have printed matter sent. Scrap books containing written and printed descriptions of localities in different portions of the state, is another help offered the new comer. In these ways the new comer is made acquainted with all of the principal features of the state, and materially aided. It is a safe proposition to say that, as an immigration field, Oregon is as large if n a larger in the eye of those intending to come West, as any other statio or territory on the Pacific coast If the question is asked, why? we reply that, considered agriculturally, Oregon has, in most respects, no peer in the linus. As compared considered agriculturally, Oregon has, in most respects, no peer in the binon. generates virulent fevers in winter. The mean average temperature in July is about 63, that of January, 45 degrees.

Another strong argument in favor of our climate is in its relation to agricultural production. The superior quality of our wheat, famous the world over, clearly establishes and enforce the fact that we have the sunshiny days and long cool nights, less intense heat in maturing months, necessary for the perfect growth of the highest grade of wheat. Not only this cereal, but the best climate for oats, typ, barley, corn, hops, grazees, flax, vegetables, fruit of all strings, and hermes of every kind imaginable, as belonging to the temperate regions. In a word, the climate of Oregon develops a rich vegetation, ripens al undant harvests and is favorable to the growth of a strong, healthy race of people. AS AN AGRICUITURAL FILID In this sense the very name of Oregon has become the synonym for superiority and plente-ousness and when we come to consider the ousness and when we come to consider the wonderful adaptability of our soil, and the peculiar fitness of our climate for the productions of a temperate zone, and then compute this with what farmers have accomplished with such sterile, forbidding scale land soil as hes abroad in New bengland, for instance, the possibilities of Oregon are beyond all comprehension. No where also in this country can labor on the farm produces such exceptional tramphs as in Origon. An impression has grown up elsewhere that wheat growing is the exclusive business of the furiner. In the southern part of the state we may add figs, hard and soft-shell aim ands, nectarines, apricots, quinces and Eng-lish wainots. In many portions of the state grapes seem to have found their natural ele-ment. In Southern Oregon corn matures, hard and sound, and keeps well. Sugar corn is grown and broom-corn is successfully cultivated. STOCK RUSING
With an insurpassed prairie of bunchgrass

and an insurpassed prairie or bunchgrass tand, rich in growth and well watered, and with all things invorable in climate, Oregon offers a splendid field for cattle raising. The easiern portlion of the state is essentially a grass growing section, and is especially adapted to the ing section, and is especially adapted to the rearing of beef rattle and sheep, but in the western portion, especially in the foothfills, the farmer who is content with from 50 to 200 head of stock can find she did on operatinities. If he cannot niwass and government land he can buy find at low highers, say all from 50 to 5 an airce, and from this say a cultivated farm, have an advantage for his stock. This is in a portion of the sate where the firmer loss not need to cut has for winter feeding of cut he a plan like this is very practical and probable.

GOVERNMENT LAND. There is more or less apprehension among in-

in this stake, the general idea being that there are millions of acres of such lends lying in the valleys and all of it is ready for the plow. This is an error While it is true that there are some is an error. While it is true that there are some fine open rolling lands in Eastern Oregon, the government land lies in the Cascade and Coastange of mountains, or along the Columbia and small valleys and is more or less heavily fumbered. Along the footbills there are some sections of government land denominated "brush land," and here and there in each quarter-section a few acres of open land. This is true of the locality between Forest Grove and Astoria, on the central grant—now forfeited, it is true of some portions of Columbia county, Icakamas county, Washington county, Lane and Linn counties, in Western Oregon. In the southern portion of the state, in the Regue river and Umpqua valleys, in the counties of Jackson and Josephine, thus land may be found. A part of this lies in the the state, in the Regue river and Umpun valleys, in the counties of Jackson and Josephine, this land may be found A part of this lies in the small valleys and along the streams. These tracts are not extensive, and a compartitely small proportion of the whole is available for immediate cultivation. It is possible for the immigrant to find now and them an excellent location on government land in the locations named here, under this heading, but it is a mistake to say that 10,000 immigrants can be so fortunate. If he must have government land, the newcomer will have to take his share of heavy of light timber land as is removed somewhat from the lines of transportation and towns. The claims will be very valuable by and toy, and for the present will, if properly looked after from the present will, if properly looked after from the start. I thus without timber will be found in the start of the proper of the immigrant family. But the "groperly looked after weaks much putlence and miner; I is best that the new comer would realize this truth from the start. I trude without timber will be found in Eistern Oregon. EDUCATION IL DYLKHASTS

No state in the Union makes a more generous provision for its public schools than Oregon, and there is no subject connected with our progress and prospertly in which the people take a deeper interest than that of education. Among the attractions of this state and the inducements it holds out to the intending emigrant of the old world or our own states none are more worthy of attention than these facilities for popular education. The educational system embraces the three departments—the common schools, the normal schools and the state university. The especial pride of the people is the public school system. Under this management the public school system. Under this management the progress of these pechools has been rapid, standy and wholly gratifying. New districts are formed each year, and nothing is left to hap-hazard or incompetent management. The head of a family who brings the children, and comes to cast his lot among us, need have no fear of falling in his duty to them in respect to education. They will find schools, and the best of them.

MORAL AND BELIGIOUS INTEREST MORAL AND BED IGIOUS 15-188851

The church interest is a dominant one in Oregon, and without marshaling any statistical figures or making comparisons, a fair account will be highly honorable to our people. Like all the most the Markless (Organ) be highly honorable to our people Like all states on the west slope of the Rockles, Oregon has attached to berself a diversified population, where characteristics, in respect to social, unotal or religious usages are as a ratiable as the lands and states of their birth. Oregon, in a religious sense, ranks well with many of he older states. There is scarcely a community or locality, no matter how isolated, but has its house of worship and a large and growing membership. In the cities and towns of the state the church edifices are commodous und handsome structures, and the pulpits are occupied by some of the met able ministers of the country.

WHO SHOULD COME

WHO SHOULD COME No one should think of coming to Oregon No one should think of coming to Oregon unless he has sufficient means for self-support for half a year, at least, after arrival, for suitable employment immediately after arrival can not always be relied on. This caution applies particularly to heads of families, who would be cruelly derelict in their duty to expose those depending on them to the risk of destitution on arrival. Families who contemplate setting on government lands will require, after providing for all traveling expenses, from $609 t.1 88b., with which to meet the cost of putting up a house, for live stock, seed, farming implements, provisions, etc.

Got chealth is the first rejutate of a person who pre puses to emigrate to a new country, with a view of un roving his condition in life. Although the climate of tregon as of favorable as to maure exemption from many disenses which prevail in other states, and to promise relief in other alments, the chances are that imgration will give a mistake in the case of confirmed invalids who are compelled to work for a living disease.

THE PLANET MARS.

Does Life Exist upon that Member of the Solar System?

Arguments on the Affirmative Side-Our Neighbor has Land, Water and Atmosphere and Receives more Heat from the Sun

Chambers s Journal The question as to the habitability of other worlds than ours has always been a very fascinating one, and, indeed, it is not surprising that it is so for, since the days when the earth was obbased from her proud position as the center of the universe, and was assigned her proper place among the plan-ets, there seemed to be no particular reason why she alone should produce life, and why other planets, apparently as suitable for this purpose as she is, should wander uninhabited through space
Up to the present time at must be confessed

Up to the present time it must be confessed we have met with nothing but disappointment in this branch of longer, for that only have we not detected living creatures on any other member of the solar system, but, with the singular exception we are considering there is apparently no other body whose surface is under conditions which would lead us to suppose that it might support lift, or least life in any form with which we are requainted. It is, of course, uncless to anyoe about the possibility of life under entirely different conditions. For instance, there might be some form of life in the sun. We can only say that it would be no different from what we know as life that the so different from what we know as life that the term would be har lly applicable and whether it is likely to exist or not is a needlon which our himited experience does not allow us to term would be har fly applicable and whether it is likely to exist or not as question which or I handed experience does not allow us to answer one way or the other. The moon, again, may be the home of living creatures, but they must be 50 constituted as to exist without air of any 50 constituted as to exist without air of any 50 constituted as to exist without air of any 50 contains to our notions of life. We will here go to the length of extimining in detail the consistions which obtain on the surface of all the bodies within range of our telescopes, but we may state that in mone of them, with the exception of the plinet Mirs, is there any resemblance to our earth, and, therefore, life, as we know it, could not exist on thum. With Mars the case is different, and at first sight there appears to be a state of things which approximates closely to that which obtains here. The planet Mars appears to the halved ere a deep red color, and whom examined with the telescope we see that a large part of his surface is red but between the red and intersecting it in all directions are patches and stripes of a dull greenish high if was very soon conjectured that this greer part was the Martial sea, and that the red was the land this has been confirmed by later observations, and now no doubt exists on the point. The principal problem that we are here confronted with is this Assuming that what appears green on Mars is a liquid of some sort, can we assume that it is water, and not some or her liquid with which perhaps we are unacquainted? This question appears at inst sight impossible, for, unless we can bring some of the tartial sea down to the earth and analyse it, low can we determine its chemical constitution? The telescope—the spectroscope

The method of observation employed is a question which we cannot enter into here it must ruffice to state results which all fond to prove that these seas are composed of water similar to ours. If must not be understood that we have been able to determine the directly the only fact that w considerable quantity of wterstapor, which it is only fair to assume has been taised by evaporation from the seas, which are therefore also water.

Some time ago it was observed that situated at each pole of Mars there is a winterpatch, which increases and decreases at regular intervils. This has been observed for many years before the explanation was suggrested by Herschel that it was due to the freezing of the sea, and was exact a nanlogous to conform the sea, and was exact a nanlogous to conform the sea, and was exact a nanlogous to conform the material of the would, of course, decrease in the Martial enumer, and increases again as the winter came of the was seen shown to be the fact thus we see that, as far as regards the sea, thrus is very similar ito our earth with the exception that the proportion of land is much larger on the earth the land is only about one-third the area of the sea while on Mars the land and sea is influes seem to be about quail in exhert. The land is much could in the form of a few large occurs but other as a number of curious abaped, narrow inlets and that he are increased in the sease of the sea of the land as consistent for which no deput-explain thinh is jet been for face harded. In such consistent for which no deput-explain thinh is jet been suggested. It is the think are should differ from all the other blanets. The application of the such seems curious that in this point Mars should differ from all the other blanets. The side of the peculiar nature of the s. I, but it for more interest the continuents in the point which occurs in any quantity of the red color which occurs in any quantity of the red color which we observe on Mars. There is the refuse on tegetation, unless we adop the cultival color makes and for the present we must content ourselves and for the possible. The method we use to determine whether a planet has an atmosphere is a very simple now, we have only to observe it pass in front of a fixed star then, if there is no air round it he hight from the star will be con the light from the star will be exting maked instantaneously, as it is in the case of the noon whereas, if it has an atmosphere, the light will gradually die mwy, because, instead of teing shut of su idenly by an opaque bedy, it will be st why dimin shed by them in the case of the noon whereas it is air t at it showed the case of the upplying its obser ition to the upplying it is obser ition to the upplying it is obser ition to the upplying its obser ition to the upplying its obser ition to the upplying its obser ition to the observe when a case the amount of air which survey, we are unchle to measure; it seems fair to assume that the amount of air which survey, we are unchle to measure; it seems fair to assume that the amount of air which survey, we are unchle to measure; it seems fair to assume that the amount of air which survey as the interest of Mars would be about equal to it is included it is about the same proportion to that of the include of the planet as in the case of the air at the include the air pressure on the earth which of the items of the planet as in the case of the air at the include the pressure of the earth to be included to the include the pressure of the earth of sea, we should naturally expect that cludes of sea, we should naturally expect that cludes of the feat area of the planet have been observed to be observed to be

According to Prof. I angley the true color of the sun is bloc, and its yellowness is due to the sun is bloc, and its yellowness is due to the dirt always present by the air. To the sun able and direct commenced are drawned even in the air direct commenced are direct forms. The house is elegantly farmished a for items, white, unless, indeed, they also have you capoes to fill the air with lavadust.

Let us mow sum up the facts we have stated, and delermine as far as we can what eard of man with Dan both its hard is direct since the useful and the inhabitant of Mars must be and the inhabitant of Mars must be an its light piece, the force of gravitation at the surface is only just over one-third of its the Ch.cago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway equivalent on the earth, a pound would it erefore weigh about six ources in Mars. If, therefore, we seeme that the men are of such a size that their weight and activity are the same as ours, they would be about fourteen feet high on the average. This would make their strength erry great, for not only would it be actually anperior to ours, but, as every weight is so much smaller, it would be apparently proportionally increased. We should therefore expect to find that the Martialites have executed large engineering works, perhaps also their telescopes are much superior to ours, and we have been objects of interest for their observers. With regard to telescopes, it may be interesting it exmine what is the effect of the highest magnity ing power we can use. At his nearest approach ing pow it we can use. At his nearest approach the distance from us to Mars is about 37,00,000 miles, and assuming that the highest power that can be used with advantage is 1.00, we approach with our telescopes to a distance of 30,000 miles, so that houses, or towns, or indeed any articular works, would be hopelessly invisible. With regard to the supply of heat and light, we have seen that the Martinitie is not worse off that we are. To him the sun would appear as a white, or porthags blue disk, about two-thirds the diameter that it appears to us. The Martinidady off fers but slightly from ours. His pear, however, is much longer, being at out 687 of our days, which is about 690 Mart all days. The incination of his axis to the plane of the orbit is such that his seasons would be similar to ours. It is distinct to reconcile the idea of an externor vegetation with his peculiar ted color. It is just possible, however, that some of the given that his easons would be similar to ours. It is distinguished by the forests.

The mest wild objection to the habitability of Mirshie and the fact of the art where messare which, pa we have seen would probably aver a set of the inches of mention. The law is realled y (a van) and I take or in their for a set of the inches of the inches of the law is real ed y (a van) and I take on the fact of the distance of the law of the law pressure hip; also because of the extens impossible that a man constitute lex with as we are could into for any length of time and it as the interpret of the most of the law or it as the first of the first of the stand of the law or it is not only as count of the law pressure in the for any length of time and it were read.

The Old Insane Asylum in East Portland Entirely Consumed.

Bloomer & Son's Canning Establishment Destroyed --Louise Aggregating $27,000—Other East Side Items.

About 9 15 yesterday morning the old insane asylum, located on Twelfth and Asylum streets, East Portland, was discovered to be in flames. There was some delay in turning in an alarm, and for this reason the fire department did not arrive upon the scene until nearly 10 o'clock. When an OBSHONIAN reporter reached the grounds at 9.30, the fire was confined actively grounds at 9.30, the fire was confined entirely to the upper floors of the main building, renning east and west, and the flames were just beginning to lap the cupola. By the time water was obtained, however, the entire structure, north and south, was a mass of seething, coaring flames. The steam engine was connected with a hydrant on the corner of Lievento and U streets, but owing to mismanagement in fi ing, behaved badly, scarcely throwing a stream ng, behaved cany, scarcely inforwing a siceam to the top of the bunding. The gauge in the water company sengine house near by indicated a pressure of 145 lbs. On account of this drawback it was impossible to save any part of the bunding, and by 11 o clock the entire structure. inae, together with all the sheds and outhouse immediately surrounding it, was in ashes. SAUNDERS'S PURSUERS.

Ex-Sheriff T P. Hogan, of Donglas county, who took the lead in hunting and capturing Saunders, the murderst, is in the city. He was kept been yesterday answering questions about his trip and Saunders. The first question saked by nearly everybody was "Did Saunders have false teeth" And the answer was, "No." There was a grand mistake about these teeth and one that caused lots of trouble Saunders had his natural teeth and some of his front teeth had been "bult no" as the dentits say with had been "built up" as the dentists say with gold. This is a plain and prominent mark, goto This is a piain and prominent mark, which if it had been put in the printed description of Saunders would have effectually prevented all the humbing about that Walla Walla Chesund. But through some blunder this important point was omitted Mr Hogan started out vented all the humbug about that Walla Walla Chesual. But through some blunder this important point was omitted. Mr. Hogan started out on Saunders strail immediately after his escane was known, in company with D. CE'R HUMIL C WI H HOUNDS. SALPH July 27
TO THE ELITOR OF THE ORECCEPTAN

Having just returned from a timp rate the (second mountains, I am much impressed with the evi of deer building with hounds, as carried on by some persons. It seems to me that if we are to preserve the deer in our mountains, this practice must be probabled by law Our mountains at these work. are to preserve the deer in our nountains, this practice must be problibled by law Our mountains, those most those side in the preservation of deer, do not need hounds to assist them in killing deer and would like to see the custom forbidden. It is cruel and inbut non sport, for beades running the deer to death, it frightens them out of the membrane and presents, in leasy instances, the geopagation, and rearing of the young. Within a few years after the passage of a law prohibiting deer hunting with hounds the deer with have become so plentical and so tame that the unsophisticated hunter from the valleys and foothlib need not bring his dogs with bim into the mountains, but can with fittle effort find deer most anywhere without them. In Northern Californis, whore, either by custom or by law, I am not sure which, bounds are prohibited from making deer, the deer are very plentiful and easily killed Such ought to be the condition of things in Ore gon, and can be, if our next legislature will take hold of the matter and case a stringent law, with a proper penalty attached for its via intion. An excellent plan woul't be for hunters and mountaineers all over the state to get up petitions and present them, with numerous signatures annexed, to the members of the legislature from their respective countes, praying it ent to push such a measure at it a next regular session. It is not deered to prohibit the pursuit of wolves and other destructive animals with hounds, but only the pursuit of lear and per hops antelope and els. Such a law as this ought to meet with objection from no one, since, whether sportsmen or not, we are all nore or less interested in the nevervation of valuable game.
